

On a personal note

Originally from: Millisons Wood

A little about you: I have always had an interest in politics and caring for my local area. My passion for politics and caring for my community really grew when I went to university, where I found a new appreciation for my home. Growing up in Millisons Wood, I went to Meriden Primary School, followed by Heart Of England Secondary School and Sixth Form. After graduating with a degree from the University of Portsmouth, I moved back to Millisons Wood to complete a Masters degree from the University of Birmingham, where I am still a student mentor. Fast forward several years and I moved into the heart of the village where I still live.

Career History/Skills: I am a digital marketing manager, with experience in social media, website optimisation, and content writing. However my first part-time job was in the village, working at the Manor Hotel.

Describe yourself in five words: Caring, Passionate, Fun, Hardworking, And Motivated.

Favourite things

Book: The Long Song by Andrea Levy

Meal: Japanese (Yakinori)

Travel Destination: Dominican Republic

Film: Titanic

Music: Anything – but I lean towards R&B/Pop

Which three people would you invite to a dinner party: Prince Harry, Michelle Obama, Ariana Grande

Other interesting/unknown facts about yourself: I'm a vegan and fitness-freak

As a Councillor

What made you stand to be a Councillor?

I'm passionate about my area and want to use my voice to help represent younger people here.

Which parts of/services in Meriden are you most passionate about?

The main areas I am passionate about are the environmental impacts of HS2, air quality, and litter, as well as engagement and representation of younger people in the community.

What are your aims over this term in office?

To help make the councils presence more current (particularly online) so that information is easy to access for everyone, especially younger people who are new to the Parish Council and what we do.